SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

By MILDRED KRAUSE

Throughout their entire four year course in Camas High, the Class of '32 has worked and played together with the motto, "Nothing great is lightly won," as their guide, and has won recognition for their achievements in all phases of activities and study. During the trying freshman and sophomore years, we held our heads up in a vain effort to command the respect due us; another year increased our dignity and superiority among ourselves and underclassmen, but we had to wait until this, our final year, to receive the desired regard and respect.

However, such slight abuses which were given us as underclassmen did not deter us from our hopes and ambitions.

Our group played a prominent part in athletics. As freshmen, the boys turned out for the various sports, and, although they went unrewarded in terms of public recognition, they received training and lessons in sportsmanship, thus preparing for future triumphs. The following years, Ralph Dungan, Ray Pierce, Vernon Morgan, Ronald Craig, Charles Moe, James Shively, Fred Weakley, Harlyn Scobba, Harold Roffler, Bernard Dorman, Aaron Dunn, Howard Scott, Ed Agun and James Carmack graced the football field; and, in their last year, Scobba, Shively, Moe, Pierce and Agun scored the first team and succeeded, along with the other members of the squad, in bringing to Camas High, the coveted honor of sharing with Ridgofield, the championship of the Clark-Skamania League.

The basketball team contained two of our classmates, Harlyn Scobba and James Shively. Several members were active in tennis and in the inter-class tournaments, Nona Kolberg carried off the honors in the girls' division in her junior year.

The seniors played an important part in glee club, mixed chorus, octet, Girl Reserves, orchestra, Hi-Y, honor C, track, and torch society and a group of senior girls composed almost entirely the finance committee.

One of our members, Fred Weakley, took part in debate during each of his four years in Camas high and was awarded a diamond debate pin for his efforts.

One or more of our present group have, at one time or another, taken leads in the annual operettas. Mildred Kennedy has taken a leading part for four years.

Our senior class play, "Adam and Eva" was given April 17, at the Granada Theatre. The leads were portrayed by Genevieve Strain and Edward Agun, under the able direction of Miss Anna Leslie, the cast presented a pleasing performance.

Members of the class of '32 have been active in student body affairs all during their high school career and the majority of the members of the student body council for the last year, was seniors. Edward Agun was president of the student body; Mildred Kennedy, vice president; Pauline Ferenz, secretary-treasurer; Mildred Krause, senior representative and Nona Kolberg, yell leader.

And so, as the school year draws to a close, the class of '32 looks forward to the future and leaves its place in Camas high to the ambitious juniors to wish them many happy days spent in Camas High.
